[director's note]

Together as a cast putting on a play about two guys writing a musical about two guys writing a musical, we have literally and collectively put together this show with all the blood, sweat, toil, tears, six am rehearsals, late nights turning to early mornings, multiple marathon rehearsals, carpentry lessons, and gusto we could manage, all in about four weeks. I hope you enjoy this "crazzle dazzle, foshizzle craziness" as much as we enjoyed working on it.

Isaiah Stodola fell in love with acting when he first discovered it back in 2010. Since then he has been involved in numerous productions around Walla Walla. You may have seen him recently on stage at the Little Theatre of Walla Walla or WWCC's China Pavilion. With such a small cast, and a small amount of rehearsal time, [title of show] has been unique from anything he's ever done, and he'd do it all again!

Cougar Henderson is a human actor. He is so thankful you came to enjoy [title of show]! Having had the pleasure of performing in many places in the Walla Walla Valley, he is super pleased to be sharing the stage with friends new and old in today's performance. Thanks again, Senter!

Kaitlyn Johnston is a junior English major and journalism and drama minor. A few of her favorite things include grammar puns, Gilmore Girls references, winning arguments, and reusing bios. She was most recently seen in the Festival of Shorts. She is very excited to be back on stage.

Abigail Wissink is a senior humanities major and drama minor. This is her twelfth time working on a production on the wwudrama stage, and she is super excited that Crawford finally caved and let students do [title of show].

Last seen in "The Still Alarm", Amelia Pekar is happy to be back on the wwudrama stage at the keys in [title of show]. She hopes to continue acting throughout the next four years as she completes degrees in English and sociology.

Brandon Pierce, fourth year humanities major, has been intimately involved with wwudrama since he showed up on campus in 2012. Seven roles, four years, three majors, and a class or two later Brandon is over the moon to be directing Festival of the Actors 2016.

Kyle Lambert is uniquely taking mechanical engineering with a drama minor here at our very own Walla Walla University. He has been involved in every theatre production at WWU since arriving as a freshman last year. This is his fourth show as lighting designer and he hopes you laugh at least half as much as his simple humored mind did!

Mason Neil is a Libra who enjoys long walks on the beach and candlelit dinners.

Question: could we get away with doing [title of show] (clean version) for festival of actors this year?

15:19

I don't think that would be a good idea
